

Aon Master Trust Appoints New Head

Sydney, 30 July 2015 - Aon Hewitt has today announced the appointment of Janice Sengupta as the new head of the multi-award winning Aon Master Trust, bringing over 25 years of industry experience to the role.

As Head of the Aon Master Trust, Sengupta will be tasked with working closely with clients and colleagues to continue the Aon Master Trust's focus on being innovative, nimble and responsive to its customers to ensure it always remain relevant.

"We are excited to have Janice spearhead the Aon Master Trust team, a team who from the very beginning has been examining the needs of our clients and are focused on making super simpler," said Steve Gaffney, Chief Executive Officer, Aon Hewitt Pacific. "We are confident that she will be able to deliver outstanding results for both members and the business in her new role."

Over the past 25 years Sengupta has worked in financial services in North America and Australia, including a role as econometrician at London Life Insurance in Canada and as an investment strategist to manage the asset allocation for ipac's diversified funds. Her earlier work also included hands-on experience in portfolio management.

Sengupta first joined Aon's Sydney office in 2006 as Head of Research with responsibility for fund manager research within Australasia. In 2007, she was promoted to practice leader and principal of Aon's Investment Consulting business in Australia and is now serving as Chief Investment Officer. In 2012, she joined the trustee board of directors for the $3 billion Aon Master Trust.

"With my new role as Head of the Aon Master Trust I have the opportunity to guide strategy drawing from the thought leadership of Aon's global investment research experts and utilising connections with the Global Investment Practice Committee," said Sengupta. "Together with the experience and expertise of the current team, I am confident we will take Aon Master Trust to its next successful stage in evolution."

The Aon Master Trust is a multi-award winning fund and was named the 2014 Personal Super Fund of the Year at the Smart Investor Blue Ribbon awards.
